

Merry Christmas

You've been bought a year's membership to Historic Houses, giving you free entry to hundreds of Britain's historic houses, parks and gardens.

Highclere Castle,
Newbury, Hampshire Border

Newby Hall,
North Yorkshire

Dunrobin Castle,
Golspie, near Inverness

Explore history in 2022

What can you look forward to?

Free access to almost three hundred historic houses, parks & gardens

From Powderham Castle in Devon to Scone Palace in Perth, as a Historic Houses member, you can look forward to a year exploring some of Britain's finest, independently owned historic houses, parks and gardens. Just show your membership card at the gate of participating houses and you can enter for free. See historichouses.org for further details on visiting as a member.

Monthly online lectures

Every month, Historic Houses host an online lecture for members on subjects ranging from 'The Story of the Country House', to 'Boughton House: The English Versailles'. You can either tune in live, or watch an archive of recordings of previous lectures on the website in your members' area.

A quarterly magazine

As a Historic Houses member, you can look forward to a gorgeous exclusive magazine delivered straight to your door every three months. The magazine offers fascinating insights into the world of country houses, and includes interviews with the owners, tips on where to visit next, and profiles of the collections, gardens and stories behind our member houses.

An exclusive members area on our website

Would you like to tune into our past lectures? Or perhaps read past issues of our magazine? You can now register a website account using the barcode on your membership card to start browsing through all of this, as well as find other items, such as exclusive discounts and behind-the-scenes videos.